INTRODUCTION

Complex tectonics and heterogeneous structure of rocks relief in Serbia have conditioned the occurrence of a great number of mineral, thermomineral, gaseous and radioactive sources. Curative spring water in Serbia are hypothermal, homeothermal and hyperthermal. This is the basis for balneologic tourism. Some spas are near to the mountains, and for this reason, it is necessary to complementary develop spa and mountain tourism.

The possibilities for better coordination of Serbian strategic planning in achieving the sustainable spatial and tourism development, and possibilities to integrate landscapes into the planning process are indicated.

1 TOURIST OFFER OF BELGRADE FORTRESS AND KALEMEGDAN

Belgrade is the capital and largest city of Serbia. The city lies at the confluence of the Sava and Danube rivers. It has population of 1.2 million, while the metropolitan area has more than 1.7 million people.

It is one of the oldest cities in Europe and has since ancient times been an important focal point for traffic, an intersection of the roads of Eastern and Western Europe. Belgrade is the centre of Serbian culture, education and science. It has the greatest concentration of institutions of national importance in the field of science and art

Belgrade has the status of a separate territorial unit in Serbia, having its own autonomous city government. Its territory is divided into 17 municipalities, having their own local government.

In recent years, this promotion is directed also to some Belgraders in order to make them familiar with cultural and tourist values of their city, especially through certain events and free-ofcharge sightseeing, the Belgrade fortress and certain ambience wholes, with professional guides.

To visitors Belgrade offers its rich programme of cultural, artistic and sports events, many museums, cultural and historic monuments.

Belgrade Fortress is the historical nucleus of Belgrade, around which the civilian settlement grew up, starting from the time of Singidunum in the Celtic and Roman periods. Numerous remains of the Roman fortification have been uncovered. While the IV Flavian legion was stationed here, the first fort constructed of square hewn stones was erected in what is now called the Upper Fortress (Gornji Grad). Parts of the original Roman walls are still visible near the Zindan gate, incorporated in the lower part of the north-west wall of the Upper Fortress, together with remains of a square tower.
